We are hiring 6 full-time, 12-month contracting positions in Alaska to work closely with federal agencies on fisheries management, endangered and threatened species, environmental contaminants, habitat protection and restoration, and marine mammal conservation and recovery.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>4 Positions in Anchorage, AK</th>
<th>2 Positions in Fairbanks, AK</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Ecologist, marine mammals</td>
<td>Ecologist, general</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ecologist, general</td>
<td>Biologist, fisheries</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Biologist, fisheries</td>
<td>Biometrician</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

General Duties:
- collecting, verifying, and analyzing data on species distribution and abundance as well as habitat quantity and quality of natural resources;
- conducting or participating in research and monitoring projects;
- entering data and conducting quality control reviews and querying databases to extract data or determine the status of actions;
- conducting biological analysis of proposed actions;
- evaluating the effect of proposed actions on species and habitats;
- implementing habitat conservation, restoration, and enhancement projects;
- evaluating the effectiveness of management decisions on species and habitats;
- preparing maps and other geographical displays and analysis;
- conducting literature reviews;
- drafting responses, letters, reports and reviews;
- conducting and documenting site visits;
- attending meetings and conferences;
- organizing and maintaining filing systems (including electronic filing); copying documents and compiling records (including responses to Freedom of Information Requests and Administrative records); and
- providing meeting support including organization, material preparations, participant assistance, facilitation, and debriefing.

Period of Performance and Salary
September 1, 2018 to August 31, 2019 (extension possible)
Salaries commensurate with qualifications

How to Apply
Send resume, phone number, 2 references, and the position(s) and location(s) of interest to jobs@akbiomap.com. Applications are evaluated in order received.

For additional information, email info@akbiomap.com or call (907) 321-2908.