Summer entomology lab and field technician needed. The University of Alaska Museum Insect Collection is seeking a Biology or Wildlife student to work 20-40h/wk on a National Park Service funded research project focused on beetles, spiders, and pollinators in Denali National Park. This position is primarily lab-based, working with preserved arthropod specimens in the museum, although participation in 3-4 day field collection trips in Denali National Park is possible.

If interested, apply at

And, importantly, email Dr. Derek Sikes at dssikes@alaska.edu after you've submitted your application (and with any questions).