Science Scholarship for Women:
The Kathryn E. and John P. Doyle Scholarship
Deadline: April 25, 2019 by 5pm AKST
Application information at https://alaskacf.org/blog/scholarships/doyle/

The Kathryn E. and John P. Doyle Scholarship is currently accepting applications
The application period is open March 7, 2019 to April 25, 2019.

The Kathryn E. and John P. Doyle Scholarship Fund was established with The Alaska Community Foundation in 2015. Kathryn (Kay) Doyle was tenacious and adventurous. She chose Alaska as her home in her early forties and, after a career flying for the military, she settled into a career as a flight attendant. Not one to sit idly by, she was often seen taking over the flight controls instead. Her husband John Doyle was a professor at the University of Alaska Fairbanks who shared his passion for fish with his students. Though he eventually retired in Anchorage after a long career within the UA system, he could often be found in rural Alaska helping people with tax documents and learning to become a better fisherman. Both placed a high value on education, and their passion for students to better themselves through education lives on in the awarding of scholarships to Alaskan students.

The Kathryn E. and John P. Doyle Scholarship supports female graduate and undergraduate students studying a degree in science and attending the University of Alaska Fairbanks. Two awards will be made of up to $5,000. One for a graduate student and one for an undergraduate student. Preference will be given to students who demonstrate financial need.
